

15.1.24

Good morning,

I hope everyone had a great weekend. My partner is training for the London Marathon so I was on support vehicle duty for him as he completed a long training run!

This week, following a fantastic launch week, we continue our Barbara Hepworth topic. We will read all about her in our reading lessons, write all about her in our writing lessons, use our historian skills to plot her work and life on a timeline in history and begin to look at the abstract work that inspired her in art. The children have been so enthusiastic and shown a genuine interest in learning all about her - I feel very proud of them.

In maths, we continue our money unit - building fluency around handling money and problem solving using coins and notes.

Our PE day this week will be Wednesday.

I update our class page each week with all sorts of photos and information. I really enjoy doing it as it gives me time to reflect on all the fantastic things the children are achieving. Please take a look, there is lots on there. You can also find the text we have been using in our reading lessons which I know the children are excited to share with you.
